Anne Pratt is MD of Memela Pratt & Associates, a top-end executive search firm placing high-level leaders in positions both locally and abroad. She has had major success in her role, seeing the company's turnover increase by R6-million in a five-year period and filling some of the top positions in corporate South Africa. However, she also wants to see other women succeed in their careers. She was involved in the research and publishing of the first qualitative study on women on Boards of Directors in South Africa, she is a member of the Businesswomen's Association of South Africa (BWASA) and the International Women's Forum, and she contributes regularly to television programmes and newspapers on issues of leadership, talent and being a woman in South Africa.
